CERTIFICATION:

Research projects involving human subjects, the use of animals or bio-hazardous materials, require an active Certificate of Approval from the appropriate supervisory body, which is obtained by submitting an application through Researcher Information Services. For more information, see the appropriate sites:

- Non-clinical research projects involving human subjects: Human Ethical Review and Okanagan Campus Behavioural Research Ethics Board
- Use of animals: UBC Committee on Animal Care
- Use of generation of bio-hazardous materials: UBC Biosafety Committee

Certification is not required. Proceed to Abstract.

OR

Certification is required.

Your URA/IURA project supervisor currently has approval on this project.

*Certificate #:

NOTE: Your supervisor must apply through RISE for an amendment to include you under this Certificate of Approval

Your URA/IURA project supervisor will be applying for approval on this particular project.

If your project requires Biohazardous Materials, Animal Care, or Behavioural Research Ethics (BREB) approval, it is strongly suggested that you and your supervisor write the appropriate application proposal and save it on the RISE website as part of the process of preparing your URA/IURA application. Once your URA/IURA application is approved for funding, your RISE application should be submitted as soon as possible to ensure that approval is granted before your URA/IURA project begins. In the case of expedited BREB review (minimal risk), applications are accepted for review any time. For full board BREB review, ethics applications must be submitted by the published monthly deadline (during the 1st week of March). For more information about BREB applications, contact Lisa Shearer, BREB Associate Manager, (lisa.shearer@ubc.ca) or go to see the BREB site: <http://breb.ok.ubc.ca>.
